Preface

The National Library of Australia holds a significant collection of material about East Timor, dating from the periods of Portuguese colonisation, Indonesian occupation and post-independence. This bibliography is an attempt to list all the National Library's holdings on East Timor, including monographs, newspapers and non-book material (including maps, pictures, and ephemera), up to and including January 2009, with an appendix for works acquired during an acquisitions trip in May 2009. The material was extracted from the catalogue using keyword searches such as "Timor" in title, subject and place of publication. Unfortunately, we have not been able to include citations for journal articles at this stage. Some titles which referred to the whole island of Timor have been retained on this list as they may still be of relevance to some researchers.

The material is arranged alphabetically by author, or by title where there is no main author. Hopefully future editions of this bibliography will be subdivided by subject to make research easier. It has not been possible to physically check every item listed, so there may well be some records included which despite their title have little relevance to East Timorese research. The authors request that readers of the bibliography bring them to their attention so that they can be removed from future editions.

Works on East Timor are not housed separately, or within Asian Collections, but are integrated within the National Library's overseas collections by format – i.e. East Timorese newspapers are held with the other overseas newspapers. Most items, with the exception of serials and newspapers, may be requested through interlibrary loan.

The East Timor collection is a growing one, and it is intended to update this list regularly. The authors welcome feedback, including notification of errors and suggestions for improvements to the bibliography or additions to the collection. Updated versions of this bibliography will also be available online in the Guides section of the Asian Collections website at:
