LETTERS FROM NEW ZEALAND

Reel M423

Letters from New Zealand was written by an unidentified 'ex-Canterbury resident'. The pamphlet (56pp + 31pp appendices) was published in London by E. Buller in about 1865.

It consists of the following sections:

Page 5:	Who constitutes the reading public?
Page 9:	A colonial view of the population of the United Kingdom
Page 13:	The principle of 'honour' is lost in semi-republican colonies
Page 18:	The desire of railroads and its origin
Page 21:	The sanctity of money and the great demand for it
Page 25:	On the great changes occasioned by the discovery of a goldfield
Page 29:	On the influence of attorneys
Page 34:	On the principles of the New Zealand war, leading to financial troubles
Page 41:	On 'Would you advise me to emigrate?'
Page 51:	On 'The botanic system of medicine'
