Relocations

From	To	Topic
641.302	641.309	Substitutes for food regarded as unhealthy
641.56318	641.5639	Cooking for diets that exclude specific foods

This exhibit began with a focus on gluten-free diet, cooking, and foods; however, there are other X-free diets in the literature and in LCSH, and we felt a need to consider all of them while working on this exhibit, to avoid accidentally creating dual provision or blocking logical development for the next X-free diet that may become popular. What we have done is to focus on diets that exclude specific foods. We have placed that topic in numbers that could be developed like 641.33-641.39 for any specific food with literary warrant.

In dietetics, the obvious placement for diets that exclude specific foods is under 613.26 Specific dietary regimens. We propose 613.268 Diets that exclude specific foods.

Under 641.563 Cooking for health, appearance, personal reasons, the span 641.5632-641.5638 treats cooking for specific dietary regimens. At 641.5631 Cooking for people with medical conditions is a class-elsewhere note pointing to that span: “Class cooking for specific dietary regimens for specific medical conditions in 641.5632-641.5638.” That note is appropriate because the same specific dietary regimen may be used as diet therapy for more than one medical condition, or may be adopted for other health, appearance, or personal reasons. We propose to extend that span by adding 641.5639 Cooking for diets that exclude specific foods.

Meanwhile, many works on cooking for X-free diets have been classed in a subdivision of 641.5631 Cooking for people with medical conditions, specifically 641.5618 People with food allergies. We propose to leave works about cooking for diets that exclude multiple different foods to which people are commonly allergic and comprehensive works on cooking for people with food allergies in 641.56318, but to relocate cooking for diets that exclude specific foods to 641.5639. In addition to a history note about the relocation, there will be a see-reference to 641.5639 for cooking for diets that exclude specific foods.

The LCSH “Gluten-free foods” has been mapped to 641.3 Food, the interdisciplinary number for food. We propose an expansion: 641.309 Alternative foods for diets that exclude specific foods. At 641.302 Health foods is an including note: “Including substitutes for food regarded as unhealthy, e.g., dairy substitutes.” We propose to relocate substitutes for food regarded as unhealthy to 641.309 Alternative foods for diets that exclude specific foods.

Wheat-free diet and gluten-free diet

We propose that the same number be used for “wheat-free” and for comprehensive works on “gluten-free” because wheat is emphasized in the typical work about gluten-free diet. The relevant numbers for adding are

633.1 Cereals

633.11 Wheat

633.14 Rye

633.16 Barley

(Triticale, a cross between wheat and rye, is classed with wheat.)

In dietetics, the proposed span 613.2683-613.2685 Diets that exclude specific foods from plant crops will have the add note: “Add to base number 613.268 the numbers following 63 in 633-635 for the food to be excluded, e.g., wheat-free diet 613.268311.” There will be a number-built record in the schedule to make clear that wheat-free diet and comprehensive works on gluten-free diet are classed together:

613.268311 Wheat-free diet

Number built according to instructions under 613.2683-613.2685

Class here comprehensive works on gluten-free diet

For rye-free diet, see 613.268314; for barley-free diet, see 613.268316

We propose a parallel development at 641.3093-641.3095 Alternative foods for diets that exclude specific foods from plant crops, with a number-built record for 641.309311 Wheat-free foods. We also propose a parallel development at 641.56393-641.56395 Cooking for diets that exclude specific foods from plant crops, with a number-built record for 641.5639311 Wheat-free cooking.

Here are literary-warrant counts:

191 records found searching for dd: 613.2* AND su: gluten-free in WorldCat
95 records found searching for dd: 613.2* AND su: wheat-free in WorldCat

107 records found searching for dd: 641.3* AND su: gluten-free in WorldCat
7 records found searching for dd: 641.3* AND su: wheat-free in WorldCat

1750 records found searching for dd: 641.5* AND su: gluten-free in WorldCat
426 records found searching for dd: 641.5* AND su: wheat-free in WorldCat

Dairy-free diet; casein-free diet, lactose-free diet

Other X-free diets with literary warrant are those that exclude dairy foods. In dietetics, we propose a number that parallels 641.37 Dairy and related products: 613.2687 Diets that exclude dairy and related products. At that number we propose a class-here note: “Class here dairy-free diet; casein-free diet, lactose-free diet.” Since casein is a protein found in dairy foods, and lactose is a sugar found in dairy products, we propose to put casein-free diet and lactose-free diet in the same number as dairy-free diet. At 613.2687 we propose an add note: “Add to base number 613.2687 the numbers following 637 in 637.1-637.5 for the food to be excluded, e.g., milk-free diet 613.26871, egg-free diet 613.26875.”

We propose parallel developments at 641.3097 Alternative foods for diets that exclude dairy and related products and 641.56397 Cooking for diets that exclude dairy and related products.

LCSH “Milk-free diet” has variants “Dairy-free diet” and “Lactose-free diet.” LCSH also has “Casein-free diet.” Here are literary-warrant counts:

36 records found searching for dd: 613.2* AND su: milk-free in WorldCat
2 records found searching for dd: 613.2* AND su: casein-free in WorldCat

24 records found searching for dd: 641.3* AND su: milk-free in WorldCat

Other diets that exclude specific foods

Sugar-free diet already has provisions where it has large literary warrant. We have added a Relative Index entry for sugar-free foods at 641.30936.

18 records found searching for dd: 641.3* AND su: sugar-free in WorldCat
2 records found searching for dd: 641.3* AND ((su: sugar and su: substitutes)) in WorldCat

Egg-free diet has literary warrant in cooking. We have given Relative Index entries for all three locations.

1 record found searching for dd: 613.2* AND su: egg-free in WorldCat
7 records found searching for dd: 641.3* AND su: egg-free in WorldCat
71 records found searching for dd: 641.5* AND su: egg-free in WorldCat

Corn-free diet also has literary warrant in cooking. We have given Relative Index entries for all three locations.

22 records found searching for dd: 641.5* AND su: corn-free in WorldCat

Other diets that exclude specific foods (e.g., nut-free diet, soy-free diet) currently have fewer than 20 records.
